

Windrock Users Group Conference

I have attended the last two Windrock Users Group's, my first was in Denver in 2017, and I had only been working with the 6400 analyzer for about a year at the time. It was a great experience; I got to see how people were using the analyzer and learn a lot of the details and features of both the tool and the software. I feel that the Denver conference really helped to take my career to new heights.

In 2018 I attended my second Users Group. Feeling a bit more confident I entered in the Summit Award as well as presented. San Antonio was a lot of fun, and again the group experience is great. I managed to win the Summit Award and I feel it really helped me get in touch with my spirit animal.

Over all it was a great experience, presenting for the group and winning the Summit Award really made me feel like I was finally taking the bull by the horns.

I am looking forward to 2019 being in New Orleans, this year I'm bringing the family down to experience it as well.
